The Maroa Post Enclosing check for renewal of subscription to the Post. It comes to us as a welcome letter from the home folks each week.

Being a native son of a pioneer Maroa family and having served as editor and publisher of the Maroa News-Times and mayor of the city for two terms during the "roaring twenties," have been reading with interest the articles regarding the coming Centennial celebration and wish to congratulate all those who have worked so diligently to bring it about. We know it will be a great success.

Mrs. Sigler and I would sincerely enjoy being in the old home town during the celebration to visit with many old friends, but it is impossible this year.

We extend our very best wishes.

Very truly yours,

J. E. SIGLER.

Maroa Observes Centennial

The City of Maroa this week begins its second century of existence.

It was in September 1854 that the North West quarter of Section 11, Township 18 N, Range 2 East was surveyed as the Town of Maroa.

The Town on Thursday began the celebration of its anniversary with a series of colorful festivities. Notable among the various Centennial activities has been the spirit of community cooperation.

Maroa men did their part to call attention to the Centennial celebration by growing a wide variety of beards and joining an organization known as "Brothers of the Brush."

Local women wore old-time costumes to contribute to the Centennial spirit. They joined a group called "Sister of the Swish."

A Centennial dinner was held on August 27, drew a crowd of over 350 to hear Lt. Governor John W. Chapman speak. John H. Crocker was toastmaster at the affair.

Clubs, fraternal groups, service, social and religious organizations entered into the centennial spirit by holding special events in keeping with the observance.

They also joined businessmen and other individuals in a cooperative effort to raise funds to finance the overall program.

Preliminary activities included union church services beginning Sunday evening at 7:30 and with additional services on Monday and Tuesday evening. Wednesday night the Firemen sponsored a dance at which time the King and Queen of today were crowned.

The three days of the Centennial Celebration will be opened each morning by the ringing of church bells. Contests for the youngsters will be the feature of each morning and the early afternoon of Thursday and Friday.

Thursday afternoon will have an Antique Show, Flower Show and the Fish Fry. There will be free acts in the afternoon and evening.

On Friday the day's activities will continue with the Antique and Flower Shows with more free acts in the afternoon and evening. Special evening events will be the judging of beards, a style show and a square dance.

Three parades are on the program for the final day Sept. 25. A children's parade will be held in the morning and a tricycle parade at noon. The Centennial Day parade consisting of scores of floats and hundreds of marchers will start at 1 p. m. There also will be contests, afternoon and evening free acts, the antique show and a square dance. Final event of the day will be the awarding of an automobile.

A carnival will be in operation during the afternoon and evening of each day.

Bob Bolen served as general chairman of the Centennial Council which was composed of anyone who wanted to help with the celebration. Numerous other individuals served as chairman of various activities or helped in other capacities. There was no remuneration other than the self-satisfaction that came from staging perhaps the most successful civic undertaking in the city's 100 year history.

The Centennial Committees will meet Thursday, Sept. 30th to determine their work for the celebration. Treasurer Leo Ruble reports $343 received last week from the King and Queen contests.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Carter of Maroa, Sept. 18 in the Decatur and Macon County hospital.

1st Rural Route

The first rural mail route out of Maroa was established in 1896 and the first carrier was H. M. Morris. The route has been changed only slightly since. He used a cart or buggy with one or two horses depending on the condition of the roads. The scheduled time for leaving the postoffice was nine o'clock in the morning and the route took the greater part of the day. There were many times he did not get back till after dark.

Mr. Morris was paid at first $600 per year and was required to pay for the up-keep of the team, buggy and harness. He retired in 1912.

1857 Grave

Here is pictured the oldest grave stone in this area. It was placed there in 1857, just three years after the founding of Maroa. The stone is located in Ridge Cemetery at the grave of Mrs. Deborah Weaver who passed away on November 23, 1857. Her husband was Thomas Weaver.

Another stone, for the infant daughter of Dr. J. W. Thayer, founder of the Christian Church, was placed there in 1859.

Most of Area's Early Prairies Were Named for Local Incident

Early land records and early histories frequently use names areas called prairies for what, to those chroniclers, were definite locations. Since surveyors' measurements and abstractors' terms have come into general use, the names of those high grassed wind swept prairies are fast disappearing. When one asks an old timer "where was such and such prairie," the answer is most indefinite.

Locomotive bells and school bells both ring for your youngsters

When you hear locomotive bells along the Illinois Central, they are ringing for your schools and the education of your children.

The freight hauled behind the clanging engine bells helps your community build schools, buy books and pay teachers. Last year the Illinois Central paid more than $47 million in taxes, nearly twice the railroad's total profits. A considerable share of these taxes went to support schools in communities along the railroad.

Taxes are not the sole contribution of the Illinois Central to education. Thousands of Illinois Central people take an active personal part in local school affairs. Many serve on school boards and participate in school activities. All bear their fair share of individual school taxes.

The Illinois Central is proud to share in the progress of education for our young people. It is one of the many ways in which we are privileged to earn the right to your continued friendship and patronage.

THE FIRE! FROM THE MAROA NEWS, JAN. 9, 1880

Our citizens were startled from their homes by an alarm of fire a little before five o'clock this morning, located it was found to be in the roof of the building occupied by M. Grady's clothing below and John Smith's picture gallery on the second floor. The fire companies were very prompt in their response and made a determined effort to stay the progress of the flames. The building being frame and the timbers somewhat old, the inroad of the blaze was rather rapid, and for a considerable period it resisted the combined efforts of the engines, and many expressed the opinion that it would sweep away that row if not the entire business center; but happily it was not long until a perceptible impression had been made upon the march of the destructive element, but even then to those on the streets the crises was painful and for a time it seemed extremely doubtful whether the valient firemen or the enemy would claim the victory. But with the continuous streams playing to the best advantage it soon became apparent that it was yielding to the effective flow of the water, and gradually it came under control of the hose. The most of the roof where the fire originated was consumed or ruined. The origin of the flame is unknown. One theory is that it ignited from the back chimney and that its rapid extension north along in the roof and ceiling is due to the south wind which prevailed, while others maintain that it originated from rat beds where matches had been carried by those animals, and in support of this theory charred beds were taken from near the ceiling.

Mr. Sigler was a little ahead of his usual time in coming to the store this morning, and as he was passing in with a bucket of water he discovered smoke issuing from the stairway. Notifying Policeman Crowell who was near, the alarm was given. Much praise is due both fire companies.

MAY ASK FOR ASSIGNMENT OF SAME LICENSE NUMBER

Motor vehicle owners who wish to retain their current license numbers may begin submitting re-assignment applications for 1955 plates on Friday, October 1, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said today.

The re-assignment period extends through November 1, Secretary Carpenter said. He pointed out that applicants should write "Re-assignment requested" in the space on the application blank reserved for "Remarks."

All numbers whose re-assignment is not requested by the close of the working day on November 1 will be available for assignment to other applicants, Mr. Carpenter said.

Application blanks will be distributed in two weeks prior to October 1 to notaries public, banks, currency exchanges, newspaper offices and automobile dealers, Secretary Carpenter said.

The 1955 plates will bear the colors of the Fighting Illini of the University of Illinois, orange and blue. The numerals will be orange and the background blue. The slogan, "Land of Lincoln," will appear across the bottom of the plates, and the legend, "19 Illinois 55," across the top, Mr. Carpenter said.
